Gov. Hendricks' Speech.

Governor Headricks, in a speech delivered in Shelbyvale, Ind., last Friday night, said: "In a recent speech Governor Morton said, lo such a c mpaign, with slander as the chief weapon, republicans must be excused if they sp as plainly of the political character, history and purpose of their antagonists.' At the close of that speech there remained no question that the campaign, so far as he could give it c' aracter, was correctly described as one of slander. No man of intelligent observation has failed to see that misrepresentation of the motives of democrats is the purp se and policy of the press and speakers of the republican party. They charge conduct, attribute motives and impute scatiments and opinions wholly un known to the parties attacked. Language is attributed which was never used, or so misquoted and garbed as to impart a meaning u ver intended. A cruse must indeed be desper sie when its viadication requires a resort to means so despicable and wicked.

'In this great Centennial year he could not ruly, as he was attacked. What is the truth, and your duty and aim in respect to the South? I but repeat my letter of acceptance when I say that all the people must be made to feel and know that once more there is established a purpose and policy under which all citizens of every condition, race and color, will be secure in the enjoyment of whatever rights the Con struction and laws declare or recognize, and that he is a dangerous enemy of his country who would arouse or foster sectional autag-

"In but two Southern States is there bloodshed and death between the races. In these States alone, Louisiana and South Carolina, is the republican party dominant. In every other State of the South the people have recovered and restored the American right and power of suf-government, and the negro race has ceased to be the tool of party, and peace and harmeny prevail, and prosperity is rapidly return ing to all.

heavy of North Carolina and Texas and Ala-

"Why not restore Louisiana and South Caroing to the blessings of good government, that blacks and whites alike and together may dwell under the mild influence of peace and harmony? As wise men and parrictic citizens I ask you to judge whether it be right or expedient or buman to continue the men in power who make political gain out of scenes of violence and bloodshed.

"There is not a good man in our whole country whose heart is not made glad by the assurance that once more the Methodist Episcopal Church is to become one and undivided. The Christian and patriotic gentlemen whose labors have brought that result about merit the gratitode of the country, as they will receive the blessing of God. That mighty church will no longer be divided in America by geographical lines; nor disturbed by sectional passions, but united as the body of Christ, will press forward is the work of man's elevation everywhere. In the address a week since it is declared these insternized churches have no further occasion for sectional disputes or acromonious differences, as the love of the whole for all the parts has animated the churches and raised them nearer the threne. So the same spirit will strengthen our Union of States and will raise our country into higher regions of patriotism and upon brighter fields of glory.'

Mr. Hendricks next touched on the qu stion of actorm. He said corruption was found everywher , unchecked by the men retained in favor, and he argued that the remedy therefor was a change of administration. He said whose fault is it that there has been no reform, but on the contrary that the public service has been drifting from bad to worse. It is not fair to charge it a together upon Gon. Grant. That charge springs from an unworthy motive on the part of a class of Republicans who seek Gov. Hayes' e coion upon the ground that he can accomp lish reforms which Geo. Grant could not or would not bring about.

"Up a this subject Governor Morton expressed the following opinion in his late speech: The administration of any President will be in the main what the party which elected him makes it. If he breaks away from the party the chances are that he will be broken down. In a government of parties like ours the Presideut must have his choice of officers. The men to whom he owes his election, who have defended bin from assault, to whom he must look for support in the future, will ordinarily control his action, and he will do nothing offensive to them.' lu a large degree that expresses the truth in respect to General Grant's administration. It is what is party has made and his party is what its leaders have made

"O e year ago, in my opening address as a eminiate for governor, I expressed my personal respect for General Grant, in the opinion that the prople had less cause to apprehend an evil policy from him than from the malign and powerful influence with which he would be sur rounded. You all know that the result more than realized my predictions. Civil service re form is now succred at, and has ceased to be even a pretense. Wasteful expenditures have continued, and official misconduct has become widespread and alarming. Surely the Presi dent cannot be relieved of responsibility for so shameful a condition of public affairs; but yet the Alministration is in the main what the party managers have made it. Will it be otherwise if the party elects the successor? "General Grant had four years of civil expe tience when he pledged himself and his admin istration to reform. Even he was not strong en agh to achieve success in the midst of the aiverse influences which party and party lead ers brought about him. Mr. Hendricks asked if his audience claimed that Hayes will more certainly keep his pledges He argued that retrenchment and economy call not be expected from the party in power. He reviewed the work or the last session of Congress, saying the Democratic House redue-d appropriations $40 000,000. The Senate resisted some of the reductions, and in order not to impair the Government service, the House was compelled to yield somewhat, the tesult being $30,000,000 reduction. He asked, Will you stand by the House or will you sus tain the Senate and Administration?"

Mr. Hendricks said it was clear that the lead ers of the party will not allow their party friends

11. EXA.GAZETTE & VIRGINIA ADVERTISER to be punished. The pledges of reform were distinctly made at St. Louis, but not in the Cincinnati platform. On the contrary the Cin cionati platform declares the national administration merits commendation for its honorable work in the management of domestic and toreign affairs. Who will be most likely to abolish the thousands of useless offices? Gov ernor Tilden will encounter no political embarrassment in correcting this great evil. Not so with Governor Hayes. This reform requires thousands of places of profit to be made vacant now filled by his supporters.

He said: "Have you been quite content to hear the House called the Confederate House? It is true there are many from the South who support the democratic party. Is that offensive to you? They are chosen by the people in pursuance of the constitution. Would you have it otherwise? In what respect have the Southern democrats in the House offended against the rights or the honor of the North Surely you will not say that they have offended you in voting to reduce the national expendi tures thirty millions of dollars. Dealing fairly with this subject, will you not admit that it was

"It was honorable on their part to vote to support the Centennial Exhibition rather than suffer the honor of the country to be tarnished and our pride humiliated by a failure, after the Congress of 1871 had committed the country to the enterprise. Was it not liberal and honorable on their part to vote for the equalization of bouncies among the soldiers of the Federal army? Their own constituents could not share therein, and yet they supported the measure. The House has been denounced and declared revolutionary because reform measures were put upon the appropriation bills."

He next spoke of Gov. Tilden's record, and said neither political nor personal frieadship can stand in the way of his efforts to purify and cheapen the public service. No other cit zen can bring such evidence of his ability and zeal to accomplish what the people so much desire. That fac gave him the nomination, and a conviction of that fact on the part of the people will elect him President All the corrupt influences of the country are against him; false hord and detraction will do their work night and day, but the people will stand by the champion of their cause.

Regarding the hard times he said: "When the laboror of the North asks why he can get no work he will not be satisfied with the answer that there was bloodshed at Hamburg, that there was a bloody riot at Newark, N. J., or that a man was driven from his home in Mitchell, Ind., by a band of armed men, and wounded. In such a case as ours the only remedy of the people is in a change. It cannot be worse; it will be better in many respects; it may be better in every respect.

"Retreachment in public expenditures will certainly relieve the industries of the country of a portion of their burdens, and the adoption of harmony in Arkansas and Mississippi after the overthrow of the republican administration therein. He same story tells the placed in power an administration pledged to radical reform, pledged to a restoration of the par value of the currency, without artificial contraction, by public economies, by official retrenchment and wise finance and pledged, also, to administrative policies and measures for the benefit of all the people, and not for the bene fit of a class or party, hope will revive and con fidence be restored, and we will experience the blessings of a returning prosperity."
